

ADVENTURES
in good company

HIKING THE GRAND STAIRCASE NATIONAL PARKS

Trip Summary

HIGHLIGHTS

- Hiking through two billion years of geologic time as we descent 3000 feet into the Grand Canyon
- Seeing Bryce Canyon's hoodoos as you hike through them
- Experiencing the peace of Zion Canyon from the floor of the canyon and the rim
- Learning about the diverse and fascinating geology of the area
- Gazing upward at more stars than you ever knew existed

Phone: 877-439-4042

Outside the US: 970-833-3132

Email: info@goodadventure.com

TRIP AT A GLANCE

Location:	North Rim Grand Canyon, Zion, Bryce National Parks
Activities:	Hiking
Arrive:	Plan to arrive in In St. George by 3:30PM on Day 1 to be ready for the 4PM airport shuttle
Depart:	St. George, UT airport in time for flights out after 5PM on the last day

Trip Overview

The Grand Staircase refers to an immense sequence of sedimentary rock layers that stretch from Bryce Canyon National Park and Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument, through Zion National Park and Grand Canyon National Park. The rock that is at the bottom of Bryce forms the top of Zion and the bottom rock of Zion is the top layer of the Grand Canyon. We've picked three National Parks along the Grand Staircase to hike: Zion, Bryce and the North Rim of the Grand Canyon National Parks are all spectacular and all very different from the others. The Grand Canyon is vast: it is 10 miles from one side to the other and a mile deep. Bryce is known for amazing hoodoos, the brightly colored spires of varied shapes; and Zion, with the tallest layer of redwall limestone of any canyon, is both majestic and a much more intimate canyon that fully deserves its name. We have chosen some of the classic trails in each park, designed to give you an experience and understanding that can only be gained by hiking in them. Max group size 10.

Rating

This trip is rated 4 because, except for the first day and last day, each day's hike is between 4 and 8 hours and with substantial elevation gain and loss. This trip is a great choice for any healthy woman in good physical condition who loves hiking and wants to do lots of it. If you have significant fear of heights, please call the office before you register. Prior to the beginning of the trip, participants should be engaged in aerobic conditioning for at least 40-50 minutes 4-5 times a week. Additional endurance exercise (e.g. going for a 2 hour hike once a week) and/or strength training is usually required. Rating: 1 2 3 [4] 5.

What's Included

- 1 - 2 experienced AGC guides based on group size
- Seven nights of double occupancy accommodation
- All meals from dinner on Saturday thru lunch on the following Saturday
- Transportation during the trip, starting in St. George
- National Park entry fees
- Gear rental for the Narrows

Not included: Travel to and from St. George, alcoholic beverages, snacks, guide gratuities and travel insurance

OUR ITINERARY

Below is the itinerary we have planned for the trip. As is true on any adventure travel trip, plans for any specific day may be modified due to weather considerations, unforeseen circumstances, new opportunities, and group interests.

DAY 1

Our trip starts today at the St. George, Utah airport (SGU). Plan on flying in by 3:30PM to meet the group by 4PM. It's a small but bustling airport. Nestled in a vast expanse of red rock scenery, St. George is listed as one of the best places to live in the United States and on the list of Fortune 500's "Great Places to Retire In." We'll start getting to know each other and have a trip orientation in the evening before sharing our first dinner. Bedtime is likely to be early tonight! (D)
Overnight: Best Western Abbey Inn

DAY 2

After an early breakfast, we'll load up and drive to a nearby hidden gem. Our first hike of the trip is at Snow Canyon State Park, a 7,400-acre scenic park quietly tucked amid lava flows and soaring sandstone cliffs in a strikingly colorful and fragile desert environment. We will see a little bit of everything the park has to offer on a loop connecting the following trails: Butterfly, Lava Flow, West Canyon, Red Sands, Whiptail, and Petrified Dunes. (4.8 miles, 639 feet elevation gain) Amidst a backdrop of red rocks and sage brush, we'll have a picnic lunch here before continuing on to Zion. Tonight we'll eat dinner in the open dining area at the Lodge where we can watch the sun slip away beneath the horizon and the stars come out to play. (B,L,D)

Overnight Zion Lodge.

DAY 3

This morning, we'll pick up the gear we need for the Narrows in the charming town of Springdale. We'll then head to the park for our wade up the Narrows. This is the name given to a spectacular gorge in the upper reaches of Zion Canyon that is 16 miles long and up to 2,000 feet deep. Our destination is Orderville Canyon, about 2 hours upriver and site of some of the most spectacular scenery in the Narrows. However, it is an out and back hike so turning around earlier is also an option, depending on the weather and our energy. If the weather or the conditions don't permit a hike into the Narrows, the guides will take you on one of the other phenomenal hikes in Zion. (B, L, D).
Overnight: Zion Lodge.

DAY 4

Today our choice of hikes starts on the trail to Scout's Lookout. This paved trail switchbacks up on a wide trail for about 2 miles. For those who have no fear of heights and want a mental challenge, we offer Angels Landing, one of the classic hikes in Zion. From Scouts Lookout, the trail follows a narrow ridge (there are chains there for support) out to a fantastic overlook high above Zion Canyon. For many, however, this will be far enough, and you can either wait (the view is amazing) or hike along the West Rim Trail. In either case you can make your final decision once you've actually seen the trail. Hiking up to Angels Landing is about .5 miles out and back. If your legs are demanding a bit of a rest today, walking along the Virgin River is always a good choice.

Whichever you choose, we'll regroup for our drive to Bryce Canyon. This is a very scenic drive of about 2 hours. We'll pass Checkerboard Mesa and go through the Zion Tunnel, an engineering marvel from the days when cars were smaller. We'll arrive in time to settle in and, since our rooms are only 5 minutes from the Rim, we can get our first look at this unique landscape. Tonight we'll enjoy a delicious dinner at the wonderful old Lodge there. (B, L, D)

Overnight: Bryce Canyon Lodge

DAY 5

Our hike today, the Fairyland Loop, will leave you breathless - both by the brightly colored rock spires that have been carved into a myriad of fascinating shapes by erosional forces, and from the altitude. Bryce is at the top of the Grand Staircase, and the rim of the canyon is around 8,000 feet. The loop will help us understand the concept that Bryce Canyon is not truly a canyon. This 8-mile trail, which follows a loop around a major formation with constantly changing views, provides an excellent opportunity to see hoodoos from the bottom up. The trail starts with a fairly flat 2.5 miles before plunging down into the hoodoos of Fairyland Canyon. The scenery is spectacular: along the way we get a great view of the Chinese Wall, hike past Sinking Ship Mesa, and take a short spur to Tower Bridge. With much less traffic here than other trails in the park, it may be one of the park's best kept secrets.

Or you can choose the equally spectacular Peekaboo Loop. This 6-mile hike includes the Navajo Trail, Peekaboo Loop, and the Queens Garden Trail. The Navajo Trail descends into the canyon in a series of dramatic switchbacks, winding under hoodoos, and down to a trail junction at the bottom. From here it's a short distance to the Peekaboo Loop, an undulating 3-mile trail that gets its name from the "windows" along it. Returning to the junction with the Queen's Garden Trail, we'll follow it along the foot of the escarpment for about a mile.

This evening we can gaze at the sunset over some of the most amazing geology you will ever see. Bryce is also known for having one of the most glorious nighttime skies of anyplace in the U.S. and if stargazing appeals to you, this is the perfect place to do it. (B, L, D)

Overnight: Bryce Canyon Lodge

DAY 6

Today we say good-bye to the top of the Grand Staircase and drive to the top of the bottom of the staircase. The 4-hour drive will take us to the North Rim of the Grand Canyon. At 8,000 feet, it is 1,000 feet higher than the south rim. Its distance from metropolitan areas results in 10 times fewer visitors than its southern counterpart.

We start our visit here with a hike on the Widforss Trail, a relatively flat trail that follows the rim of the Transept. There are numbered stops and a brochure that are a great introduction to some of the natural and human history of the Grand Canyon. 5 miles total. (B, L, D)

Overnight: Jacob's Lake Inn

DAY 7

We will hike down into the Canyon on the North Kaibab Trail. The North Kaibab Trail is the least visited but most difficult of the three maintained trails at Grand Canyon National Park. If we hiked all the way to the Colorado River (which we do not because it is 14 miles one way), we would pass through every ecosystem to be found between Canada and Mexico. Initially we hike through fir trees and aspen. Next we descend through the Redwall Limestone where the trail is blasted directly into the cliff.

We will stop at Roaring Springs, where water gushes directly out of the canyon walls to form Bright Angel Creek. After a long drink and a chance to bathe our feet, we retrace our steps up the 4.7 miles and 3,000 feet we came down. Some women prefer going up steep trails, some prefer going down; both will get their wish today. (B, L, D)

Overnight: Jacob's Lake Inn

DAY 8

Oh no! Can this be our last day? Yes, so we will not waste it! We start with the very short hike out to Bright Angel Point. Afterwards we'll drive the scenic 3-mile Cape Royal road to Point Imperial, which at 8,803 feet is the highest point on either rim. Our last hike is a half-mile nature trail that goes by Angels Window, an eroded opening that frames a view of the Colorado River, the perfect way to end our time here.

It's about a 3-hour drive back to St. George. We'll have you at the airport by 3:30PM p.m. and you can fly out any time after 5PM

ADDITIONAL TRIP INFORMATION

Getting There

Plan to fly into and out of the St. George, Utah airport (SGU). Major airlines as well as many of the lower cost competitors fly into SGU. There is no shuttle to the hotel. You will need to arrange a ride share option, such as Uber or Lyft or you can call a local Taxi. We recommend: Taxi USA, (435) 656-1500, <http://www.calltaxiusa.com/>

If you would like assistance with airfare, we recommend contacting our AirDesk Partner, Exito Travel. Start by submitting this form. Just fill in your dates and destinations, including any additional notes about preferred carriers, class of service, possible stopovers, etc., and an agent will typically respond via email within a few hours. If you prefer to call, the number is 800-655-4053; be sure to tell them you are traveling with Adventures in Good Company.

Please note: Most of the international airlines are in-network for Exito, so they do not charge extra for their services (and often have access to discounted rates). When necessary, processing fees out-of-network carriers are minimal at around $35-$50 per ticket.

Accommodations

We will be staying in double-rooms in the lodges OR similar right in or very near the National Parks every night, which gives us the opportunity to become intimately acquainted with each. Each room has an ensuite bathroom and two beds, sometimes two queens and sometimes a queen and single.

*Please note, in 2022 we will not be staying the last 2 nights on the North Rim but at the closest available accommodations.

Travel Insurance

We recommend that you purchase a travel protection plan to help protect you and your travel investment against the unexpected. For your convenience, we offer travel protection through Travelex Insurance Services. For more information on the available plans or to enroll, visit www.travelexinsurance.com or call 1-800-228-9792 and reference location number 06-0331.

Travelex Insurance Services, Inc CA Agency License #OD10209. All products listed are underwritten by, Berkshire Hathaway Specialty Insurance Company, NAIC #22276.

CANCELLATION POLICY

Cancellation charges reflect the many expenses Adventures in Good Company cannot recover if you cancel, even if you must do so due to illness, injury, or personal emergencies. These fees are not meant to be punitive. The charges made reflect the expenses Adventures in Good Company has incurred in administering your reservation and planning for your participation. We recognize that the majority of those who cancel their reservations do so out of necessity. Please note that we do not make any refunds for any unused portion of your trip, not arriving, arriving late, or leaving the trip early.

Click here for our Cancellation & Payment Policies and Booking Terms & Conditions.